The remote island of Barbuda is truly an unspoilt paradise and wildlife haven. The beaches here are some of the best to be found in the region, and the wildlife that roams its verdant interior are just as spectacular as the colourful marine life to be found in its crystal clear waters. At the heart of Barbuda is its main town of Codrington where a handful of winding streets play host to a scattering of authentic Caribbean shops and restaurants.

Less than 2% of the twin-island nations’ population inhabit Barbuda - ensuring it stays peaceful throughout the year and an ideal escape for yacht charterers in search of unparalleled natural beauty. If you’re exploring ashore, the famous Frigate Bird Sanctuary is a must see for its collection of rare and exotic winged wonders. The wild, remote feel of the island has made it popular with nature lovers as well as offshore adventurers with some great diving, snorkelling, sailing and water sports opportunities.
ST KITTS
The stunning two island nation of St Kitts and Nevis is a melting pot of all the charm, beauty and pulsating atmosphere that the Caribbean has to offer. They combine beaches with beauteous mountains, activities to engage your body and rich history to engage your mind. The local culture is mellow, friendly and infused with a pulsing soca beat. The tiny island of St Kitts offers plenty to do, from the famous golf course to the beautiful plantation houses, lush rainforests plus fantastic swimming and snorkelling opportunities. St Kitts which is famed for its bustling towns, volcanic black sands and lively after-hours bars.

With a marina opening here in 2015, the island has responded to its growing popularity for charter vacations and now features a selection of golf courses and luxury villas. Delve a little deeper however and you will find landscapes dotted with beautiful planation houses, important historical sites such as the magnificent World Heritage Site of Brimstone Hill Fortress National Park and enough jungle terrain to pack everyday with adventure. One of the island’s many treasures is the UNESCO World Heritage Site Brimstone Hill Fortress National Park which can be followed by a relaxed evening at one of the many beach bars.
Nevis is smaller and more compact yet no less impressive. Nestled in the footfall of the 3,232ft Nevis Peak, this evergreen Caribbean island emanates an old world charm. Less developed than its sister island, it has avoided the lure of all-inclusive resorts and the hordes of cruise ship visitors - remaining a haven for discerning travellers looking to enjoy delicious local food, fantastic diving and spectacular scenery. While both islands are a great choice for a winter charter vacation, throughout the months of July and August they come alive with festivals and carnivals that offer a true insight into the local traditions.
The chic island of St Barts (Saint-Barthelemy, St. Barth’s or St. Barth) needs little introduction, famous for its flawless beaches and world-class cuisine that attracts the jet-set. St Barts has become one of the most exclusive luxury yacht charter destinations in the world, each year attracting the international SuperYacht set to its glistening shores. Its strong French influences add a feel of cosmopolitan Mediterranean flair whilst its powder soft sands, secluded coves and turquoise waters ensure a perfect Caribbean escape.

Gustavia Port is the place to be seen in St Barts and is lined with designer boutiques, world-class restaurants and chic cafés. There are endless possibilities for diving amongst the coral reefs and marine life and all manner of watersports on a St Barts charter as well as stop-offs at other Leeward Islands including St. Martin, Antigua, Barbuda, St. Kitts and Nevis Island. Head ashore for a spot of shopping in Gustavia before anchoring off Saint-Jean Bay, not only a beautiful beach but also home to the glittering Eden Rock and Nikki Beach.

ANGUILLA

Formed by coral, the island of Anguilla pops out from the cerulean Caribbean waters like a tiny mecca for discerning travellers. The laid-back charm of Anguilla combined with its elegant atmosphere has ensured an endless appeal to the yachting crowd throughout the year. The island has managed to maintain its charm and beautifully authentic Caribbean buildings while boasting an international melting pot way of life. Also, boat racing is the national sport here so you'll find yourself in good company along with plenty of facilities for water borne visitors.

More than 30 beaches fringe the shores of Anguilla, meaning there is a wide selection to suit the needs of you and your charter party - whether you are looking for warm shallow waters suitable for children or somewhere to try out the water toys stored on board your luxury yacht. Below the waterline is a breath taking reef system full of brightly coloured corals and offshore wrecks that make for some impressive dive sites. Enjoy an afternoon in the ultimate relaxation, soaking up the Caribbean sun and in the evening head ashore for a drink at the Viceroy.
The half-French, half-Dutch island of St Martin is the ‘hub’ of the Leeward Islands. Perhaps lesser known than its Caribbean counterparts, the 87-square-kilometre island of Saint Martin is found nestled in the Antilles islands, around 300 kilometres east of Puerto Rico. Renowned for its lengthy sunshine hours, powder-soft beaches, turquoise waters, local fish cuisine and secret coves, St Martin offers the complete charter package. Whether its peace and quiet, or the bustle of beaches and shopping centres you are looking for, Saint Martin can cater to every kind of charter vacation.

Caribbean and European food, culture, and cuisine come together on St. Martin like no other place in the island chain. With world class restaurants, casual beach bars, legendary and (sometimes infamous) beaches, live music, and a fascinating colonial history, the island gives you a taste of the delightful charms of this region. Enjoy lunch at Pinel Island or anchor off Marigot Bay to take in the spectacular scenery, the perfect spot for a delicious dinner under the stars prepared by your private chef.
